GAME DESCRIPTION

Major Game Animals Taken: Bongo - Availability: Abundant - Trophy Size: 29 inches.

Duiker - Availability: Abundant - Trophy Size: Peters duiker. Good.

Antelope - Availability: Abundant - Trophy Size: Bates pygmy antelope. Top 5.

Game Sought But Not Taken: Species: Buffalo - Reason for Lack of Success: Dwarf buffalo. Lack of rain - could not track them or sitatunga. Plus, perhaps not easy to locate in dense area.

Species: Hog, Red River

Game Condition Comments: Your chance of getting a good bongo here is very high. Rainfall is important for all species to get game moving, evaluate age of tracks and get game out of the forest into the road and savannah areas. Use of dogs assists with bongo, but generally not used for other game. Saw bongo tracks very frequently, obviously high populated. Chelet takes 8 or 10 a year from 1/2 million acres - insignificant impact.

SUMMARY REMARKS

Problems of Hunt: With more rain we could track buffalo - not so much a problem with bongo due to use of dogs.

Highlights of Hunt: Pygmy trackers and penetration of the forest and calling of duikers by pygmies. Pressure of gorillas, chimps, forest elephants.

Equipment Recommendations: Leather gloves - mandatory in jungle. Small binos only three changes of hunting clothes.

Would You Recommend This Hunt to a Friend? Yes

Why? Jungle hunt is a lifetime experience recommended for experienced hunter, more demanding than South and East Africa. Camp personnel very nice people (May could be the best month - enough rain but no flood = balance.
